Dear Mr. Ferry,

When I think back on my tenure as principal of St. Thomas More School there is one area that has been in constant need of my attention That is building issues and problems, most frequently involving something electrical in nature. I readily confess that I am not an expert in any area of construction or building maintenance. I have; however, learned that if I surround myself with good and competent people, things get done right- the first time. Which brings me to the reason for my letter.

I would like to commend the employees of Ferry Electric Company who have spent hours and days at STM school assisting and correcting electrical problems in the building in creative and resourceful ways; always keeping our tuition driven budget in mind. I am completely grateful for their patient and gracious manner in dealing with me and my staff and students. I would like to especially commend John Buch as supervisor and manager, and young Sean Sucevich, who has been with us on every project we've undertaken. Sean goes out of his way to fit into our school environment by doing things such as being attentive to curious youngster in the hallways, and moving his work when my children's choir practices; all the while keeping a sense of humor and excellent manners. Sean is a credit to Ferry Electric. His work ethic and manner speaks of your company's reputation.

I am thankful that I can at least relax in on area of my responsibility because as I said, I have the good and competent people like Ferry Electric employees getting the job done right- the first time! Thanks, Mr. Ferry.

Sincerely,
